Boring operations were started at the corner of the Judiciary building, outside the office of the district attorney, yesterday. It has been claimed that one corner of the building does not rest on a solid foundation, but is upon sand. If the boring shows that coral is close below the sand, a new foundation of concrete will be put in.
Miss Minnie Reed, B.S., M.S., of the Kamehameha Schools, whose paper on "The economic seaweeds of Hawaii and their food value," published in the annual report of the local Federal experiment station of 1906, won her a "table" at the Naples Biological Laboratory, will shortly publish a second scientific paper, "Notes on the marine algae of Hawaii."

Yesterday afternoon Harold J. Holmes, who has been with the firm of Hackfeld & Co. for the past seven years, was married to Miss Ethel Hoge of West Virginia. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Wadman in the Methodist Episcopal Church, Beretania avenue. The marriage was a quiet one, only a few friends of both parties being present. The newly-married couple left for Kauai by the W. G. Hall, where the honeymoon will be spent. Mrs. Holmes has a wide circle of friends in Honolulu.

The first session of the Honolulu mothers' congress was held at Charleston, Ill., recently, and the city was in gala appearance. Delegates from all parts of the state attended.

NEW CHAPEL FOR PLANTATION KOREANS

The twenty-seventh plantation chapel in Hawaii was dedicated last Sunday morning by Rev. John W. Wadman, D.D., superintendent of the Methodist mission work in Hawaii.
The chapel dedicated last Sunday is located at Waialua, the building proper having been built by the plantation and the Koreans contributing enough to build a fence and furnish the interior.

The chapels that have accompanied the work of Dr. Wadman have met with marked success throughout the islands, there usually being a small school in conjunction where the Koreans and Japanese children are instructed in their own language and literature.

The newspapers report renewed friction between China and Japan. The "Reich" asserts Japan is about to present new demands to China with reference to free trade in Kwang Tung provinces, and the transfer of the Dalny customs to Japan in event of refusal Japan will present an ultimatum.
